NASOLOT NATIONAL RESERVE

A Remote & Beautifully Rugged Gem

INTRODUCTION

Hot and arid, beautifully dotted with hectares of superbly rugged rocky land, Nasolot National Reserve is located to the North of Mount Mtelo. Remotely located, few visitors have had a chance to be in the presence of this subtly disturbed space on earth.

Standing impressively on the periphery of the reserve is the Nasolot Hill surrounded by magnificently rolling rocky outcrops that makes for spectacular views of scenic landscapes.

KEY ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES

Visitors to this paradise can enjoy spectacular views from Nasolot Hill, bird watching, camping, fishing and nature walks. Game viewing for wildlife such as Elephant, lesser kudu, bushbuck, duiker, lion, leopard, Kirk's dik-dik, spotted hyena, jackal, impala, Sykes' monkey, beisa and fringe-eared Oryx, waterbuck, olive baboon, buffalo, gazelle and hippo.

Birdlife is exceptionally rich and varied and includes the white-crested turacos, Abyssinian ground hornbills, superb starlings and Abyssinian rollers. Such variety would sure delight any avid birder.

Located right inside the reserve is Turkwell Dam, a hydroelectric dam at the head of a gorge harnessing the waters of the Turkwell River. The waters stretch westwards between the hills forming a huge water mass that is home to a large variety of birdlife.

ACCOMMODATION

Stay in the Wild, explore, create memories

There is currently no accommodation in the reserve however, visitors can find self-catering accommodation as well as a campsite at the Marich Pass Field Studies Centre located 80 Km South of the reserve from the A1 Kitale- Lodwar road.
